

Our Products Descriptive Names -Survival Packages and Meaning

Surviveit2 LLC intentionally sets its products apart from other disaster-preparedness options by calling them “Survival Packages.” These packages deliver greater value, with new features, practical benefits, and clear choices compared with other products currently available. Surviveit2 LLC is a leader in Survival Packages, offering a unique core of essential lifesaving products designed to support basic human needs in emergencies.

The term “Packages” refers to complete disaster-preparedness solutions, including 72-hour “Grab-and-Go” emergency survival kits for individuals, groups, infants, adults, and people with disabilities. Designed to help users survive, these packages include bivy tents on raised platforms for clean, off-the-ground sleeping protection, comfort, hope, and dignity; water life jacket/backpack vests, acknowledging that 43% of disasters are water-related; and many other unique, proprietary, multi-purpose tools. Each product designed carried by the user and is safe, dependable, user-friendly, affordable, easy to use, environmentally conscious, and even fun.

Packages are available in three basic sizes—SM, M, and XXL—to accommodate everyone from infants to large adults, including people with disabilities. They also come in four configurations, with bundled items tailored to different gear levels, exceptional circumstances, or conditions such as snow and ice. The package names are Essentials, Premium, Ultra, and Professional. Professional Packages include specialized gear for first responders, such as triage tags for individual patients, tents, and IV fluid stands that attach to the tents.

Simply put, Surviveit2 Company offers the best emergency-preparedness solutions. We are changing the status quo in emergency-preparedness products by reducing confusion and offering simple, effective new survival solutions. We are also building the first recognizable emergency-preparedness brand that people genuinely want when given a choice.

Bottom line: Our scientifically proven concepts and tools can significantly improve people’s chances of surviving future disasters of any kind, anywhere, at any time. Together, we can make a clear, measurable, and positive difference in the emergency-preparedness industry today.

Final thought—until we can turn our dreams into reality for everyone... In the meantime, emergency-preparedness products remain cheap, confusing, and cumbersome. Worse, they can be deceptive, ineffective, and incomplete—creating risks that may lead to injury or even death. Unfortunately, people rely on poor advice or inadequate products, giving them a false sense of protection—if they have taken any steps to protect themselves or others at all. That is why we offer FREE education, personal surveys, and advice for everyone.

It is time for emergency preparedness to evolve...and that time is now!
